

7 July 2017

New book on urban density published

The Cluster for Sustainable Cities, an interdisciplinary research hub based at the University of Portsmouth, brings together over 36 researchers from a wide range of disciplines across the University.

Professor Steffen Lehmann, Founding Director of the Cluster for Sustainable Cities, is co-editor of the new book entitled:

Growing Compact. Urban Form, Density and Sustainability

published by Routledge, 2017; with 23 chapters, 390 pages; ISBN: 978-1-138-68040-1

After 2 years in the making, the new book on urban density, 'Growing Compact' is now finally available and in the book shops.

The book is Volume IV in the Routledge book series on sustainable design, edited by series editor Steffen Lehmann. It's a wonderful resource for all interested in the relationship between urban form, sustainability and density.

It can be ordered from Routledge here:

<https://www.routledge.com/Growing-Compact-Urban-Form-Density-and-Sustainability/Bay-Lehmann/p/book/9781138680401>

It's for sale on Amazon too:

https://www.amazon.co.uk/Growing-Compact-Sustainability-Earthscan-Sustainabl/dp/1138680400/ref=sr_1_1?s=books&ie=UTF8&qid=1499271909&sr=1-1&keywords=growing+compact

